Page 1

Constructed in 1943 as a "Mobilization" building, this structure is similar to building 2600 except for its length, which is 30 feet longer. The building may have had another use originally, since the present title does not seem related to hospital functions. Building 2610 measures 20 feet by 100 feet and was built at a cost of $4,000.

The exterior of this building resembles building 2600 except for the extra length and third roof vent. A small entry vestibule has been removed from a gable end. The interior has a double-loaded corridor with thirteen small rooms inside. Restrooms and showers were included. The building seems to be in good structural condition.

Refer to building 2600 for a more complete physical description.
